

Description

This test plan section is designed to test the system's capability to produce a typically populated order using the PRN Profile.

Notes to Testers

The system under test may choose either the PRU or the PRN section depending upon their system capability.